Frederick Apple, Jr. - Chief Executive Officer

Frederick E. Apple, Jr. serves as Chief Executive Officer of WealthSpring Capital, LLC, a CPO domiciled in the US & BVI, and WealthSpring Advisors, LLC, a US-based VC firm. His career has been represented by achieving diverse strategic and tactical objectives while leading entrepreneurial ventures and serving as a Senior Executive and Consultant within Marketing, Media, and Finance.

Mr. Apple co-founded Sound Image, Inc., a media firm based in the Philadelphia DMA serving as CEO & Executive Producer. Sound Image served broadcast and corporate clients with production & post facilities, motion picture services, and marketing strategies & advertising campaigns. To expand its reach, the firm launched "TeleFilm", a national retail dealership network reselling high-margin media services to consumers and independent producers. The company later formed a joint venture with Sammons Communications of Arlington, TX (now Comcast), broadcasting "V-Net" to more than 58,000 paid subscribers via its uniquely engineered fiberoptic head-end.

After consulting with Entaire Global Companies, Inc. ("EGC"), an Atlanta-based firm developing and marketing leveraged financial products, Mr. Apple joined the firm as its Chief Marketing Officer. As a member of the senior team, he participated in EGC's efforts to restructure the company and successfully obtain a $50M LOC with Comerica (Detroit) while also developing a $250M structured finance facility with Dresner Kleinwort Wasserstein (DKW - Frankfurt/New York). As EVP of Business Development his team expanded EGU (EGC's ENSHIELD® certification program) training more than 6,000 independent distributors. During his tenure, Mr. Apple recruited Apollo 11 astronaut Buzz Aldrin as the firm's Spokesperson & Special Advisor, was named President of EGC & Global One Financial ("G1") and served on EGC's Board of Directors. EGC's consistent growth and profitability resulted in its acquisition by Synovus Financial in 2016.

Prior to his tenure with WealthSpring, Mr. Apple consulted with clients and strategic partners developing branding, go-to-market strategies, and product launches. He has also served on non-profit advisory boards whose missions have promoted STEM-based education. As a speaker, he has presented to universities and organizations including the University of Georgia, Georgia State University, Georgia Tech, Hewlitt Packard, AT&T, Focus Brands, Association of Chinese Professionals, and others, on topics such as Entrepreneurship, Domestic and International Market Trends, and his proprietary program entitled, "The Essence of Leadership".

“WealthSpring’s mission strategically integrates & influences extraordinary ideas, innovations, and opportunities within transactions and ventures poised to deliver sustainable value and growth, while positioned to positively impact and improve the human experience.”

Trevor Erridge - Chief Financial Officer / Chief Compliance Officer

Trevor Erridge serves as the Chief Financial Officer & Chief Compliance Officer at WealthSpring. In his career, he has served in executive roles with global experience in Sales, Finance, Accounting, and Operations where his diverse knowledge in logistics and efficiencies served various ventures. Prior to WealthSpring, Mr. Erridge's entrepreneurial experience included founding and managing operations at Multistone USA Inc. and Greentec Homes Inc. Mr. Erridge began his career while serving in the South African Military, retiring as a decorated Battalion Commander with the rank of Major. He received the Chief of the Defense Force Commendation Award for Meritorious Service for clandestine operations in Angola, being recognized for outstanding and commendable achievements while engaged in military operations.

As a senior executive, Mr. Erridge has worked on three continents: Africa, Europe, and North America, developing solutions for cost management accounting, supply chain management, and international business initiatives. He has been successful in developing and implementing strategies delivering increased revenues through new income streams, increased profitability, cost reduction, and process optimization -- while also leading several successful business teams.

Mr. Erridge has been employed by and consulted with various firms including Barlow Rand, Ltd., AECI Limited, Nampak Limited, AC Packaging Systems Inc., Riley & Geehr Inc., Ross Systems Inc., and Level 3 Communications, working in commercial manufacturing and specialty defense products while holding a variety of senior management positions. As Chief Operating Officer at AC Packaging Systems, Inc., he negotiated the acquisition of two (2) companies, including a subsidiary of Canadian Occidental Petroleum, Ltd. while raising eighty-five million dollars ($85,000,000) in acquisition funding.

Serving as VP of Sales Operations & Finance at Level 3 Communications, Mr. Erridge managed annual P&L responsibilities of more than one billion seven hundred million dollars ($1,700,000,000). He also developed sales forecasting and revenue budgeting systems, which were later adopted as company standards. These processes contributed to increasing revenues from seven hundred eighty million dollars ($780,000,000) to four billion seven hundred million dollars ($4,700,000,000), delivering savings exceeding seventeen percent (17%).

“WealthSpring methodically evaluates opportunities by employing thoughtfully applied analytics and the measured deployment of expertise and capital into ventures having the potential to capture intellectual property, accelerated revenues, & increasing market valuations.”
